

ABSTRACT

An additive composition and a power transmitting fluid including the additive composition having the following components: a dispersant, an antioxidant, an anti-foam agent, and a dihydrocarbyl hydrogen phosphite. Power transmitting fluids may be formulated to have enhanced wear protection performance and enhanced anti-shudder durability by including additive compositions including the foregoing components.